Message from the Patron

Dear colleagues,

June was marked by a renewed commitment to environmental stewardship as our office observed World Environment Day on 5th June 2026. This observance was a reaffirmation of our shared responsibility towards environmental sustainability and responsible citizenship. The enthusiastic participation of officers and members of the staff in the plantation drive and other awareness initiatives reflected our collective resolve to contribute towards a greener and healthier future.

As a public institution, we have a responsibility that extends beyond our official duties. By embracing environmentally conscious practices in our workplace and daily lives, we can make a meaningful contribution to preserving natural resources for future generations. Every small step towards sustainability strengthens our commitment to the larger goal of environmental protection.

I extend my sincere appreciation to all who contributed to the successful observance of World Environment Day. Let us continue to nurture this spirit of responsibility and work together to create a cleaner, greener and more sustainable environment.

With best wishes to all!

(ANINDYA DASGUPTA)
Principal Accountant General (A&E), W.B

World Environment Day

World Environment Day was observed and celebrated at the Office of the Principal Accountant General (A&E), West Bengal, with a series of meaningful and engaging activities, reflecting our unwavering commitment toward environmental conservation and sustainable living. The celebration witnessed enthusiastic participation from officers and staff members alike, making the occasion both memorable and inspiring.

Green Initiatives on Campus

The observance commenced with a Plantation Drive, during which a variety of saplings were planted within the office premises to promote a greener and healthier workplace. Alongside this, a Medicinal Plant Plantation program was organized to highlight the vital significance of medicinal flora and the pressing need to conserve our biodiversity.

Expert Lecture on Sustainability

An informative lecture-cum-presentation on environmental conservation and sustainable development was delivered by Dr. Prajna Paramita Basu Ray (Retired Associate Professor, Post Graduate Department of Zoology, Bangabasi College, Kolkata). Her address shed light on pressing contemporary environmental challenges, emphasizing a shared obligation among individuals and institutions to safeguard the environment for future generations.

Creative & Intellectual Engagements

Adding a creative dimension to the observance was a digital Photography Exhibition on the theme "Nature". It featured captivating photographs that showcased the beauty, diversity, and resilience of the natural world through the artistic lens of our own officials.

This was followed by a spirited Debate Competition on the thought-provoking topic, "Economic Growth is Impossible without Environmental Destruction." Participants examined the complex relationship between industrial development and environmental sustainability, resulting in insightful arguments, a healthy exchange of ideas, and enthusiastic audience engagement.

A Shared Commitment

The day concluded on a note of optimism and renewed dedication towards environmental stewardship. The whole-hearted participation of the officers and staff reflected the Office's shared resolve to adopt sustainable practices, serving as a reminder that every small step toward conservation contributes meaningfully to a greener, healthier and more sustainable future.
